

A Few Letters Like These Could Make Life A Little Bit Rosier

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Life would be rosier if the postman brought more letters like these: "Remember Joe Jimcrack, the guy who beat you out by three votes when our high school graduating class was selecting the one most likely to succeed?" "Well, it seems like he has been in nothing but trouble ever since he started passing those bad checks. Recently he had most of his teeth knocked out in a brawl in a low dive on Elm Street. Some of his old classmates are taking up a collection to buy him a set of false teeth so he'll at least look respectable at the 25th reunion of our class next spring." "Shall I put you down for a buck?"

Fulbright Asks About Secret Thai Pact

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright is pressing his demand for the top secret text of a U.S. military agreement with Thailand—and he thinks embarrassment at the Pentagon may pry it loose.

The joint chiefs of staff ordered three military officers to brief the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today on terms of the five-year-old agreement. But Fulbright, the committee chairman, already has declared that an unacceptable substitute for a look at the exact terms of the document, described as a contingency plan.

The Arkansas Democrat said in an interview he hopes the joint chiefs will send along a copy of the document, so the committee can examine it in closed-door session.

"They won't let us have it," he said. "The excuse is that somebody will make a copy of it."

Lt. Gen. Richard Spillwell, Brig. Gen. Jacob Glick and Col. Franklin T. Garrett were to brief the Senate panel.

"Fulbright" said "Friday" the agreement provides "in certain circumstances for the commitment of substantial numbers of American troops to Thailand."

Fulbright charged the agreement goes beyond the terms of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization in committing the United States to the defense of Thailand.

Sources at the State Department said, however, that the agreement would not be triggered unless the United States made a national decision to intervene in Thailand. That is in keeping with the SEATO agreement.

Fulbright said there is no way he can force the Pentagon to produce the text.

"Our only recourse is to talk about it and perhaps embarrass them into it," he said.

Fulbright said the text might indicate its terms are acceptable. "There may not be much to it," he said.

"This agreement should be made available," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield. "If this develops into a pattern, I think it's very dangerous to the policy of this country."

As your doctor, I must say you are a medical marvel for a man your age.

"You have the heartbeat of a college athlete. Your lungs are clear; your liver and kidneys are A-plus; there are no signs of ulcer; your musculature can only be described as fabulous. You are in such good shape that I even believe your hair is growing back in."

"No, I see no reason for you to go on a diet or take special exercises. You are free to eat or drink anything you want."

"Elmer, I want you to take charge of the office during my trip to Europe. Confidentially, I'm considering early retirement, and on my return I'll probably turn over the keys to my desk to you permanently."

"There is one unpleasant chore I'd like you to do. I want you to hand his walking papers to Frank Climber, our third vice president. He spends so much time scheming to get the jobs of better men that his own work has slipped badly."

"The task of letting him go should be less unpleasant to you than it would be for me, however, since as we both know he has been trying to stick a shiv in your own back for at least 10 years. You can give him a farewell bonus if you feel like it—but keep it small."

"No, it isn't necessary for you to wear tie and tails or a masquerade costume to the White House Halloween ball. As you know, Mrs. Nixon and I are both pretty down-to-earth people and don't go in for stuffy affairs."

"So just tell your wife to wear something informal. An ordinary business suit will do for you. It should be doubly appropriate, as a matter of fact, because I'd like you to stay for a chat after the other guests leave and pick your brains for suggestions on my administration's business policies."

"Hope you won't mind also if we show you a few home movies taken during our recent world trip. Be sure to bring along a good appetite—Lyndon has sent up several slices of fine Texas beef for the party."

suitable job training.

Welfare recipients would receive, in lieu of the job training allowance, a special incentive of $30 a month in addition to welfare payments.

States and cities would take over much of the authority for planning and spending Federal money for manpower programs heretofore largely run from Washington, but the Labor Department would retain overall responsibility.

Shultz said the bill provides for a gradual shift of authority to states and cities and that the Labor Department will retain power to run job training in any state or city that doesn't meet federal criteria.

A state would get 25 per cent of its federal funds when it proves capable of comprehensive manpower planning. Another 66.6 per cent of the state allotment would be turned over when it sets up an operating manpower agency, a state planning council and machinery to distribute the money through city or area agencies.

Defense Budget Weather Target of Tight Critics

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon critics, accused by Sen. John Stennis of fostering dangerous "mistrust and distrust" of the military, have an arsenal of amendments ready to challenge defense spending.

Two critics, Sens. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., and Clifford Case, announced today they would try to scuttle $377 million earmarked for a nuclear-powered aircraft carrier.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., already has before the Senate an amendment to cut $45.6 million in military science research funds.

He said much of that research has nothing to do with defense, and the thinking which characterizes some "think tank" studies "is likely to lead to a larger and larger military establishment and more Vietnam."

Still on the docket, but unlikely to face action before September are amendments to trim funds for a new manned bomber and the C5A transport.

An amendment to restrict testing and transport of chemical and biological weapons passed the Senate 91 to 0 Monday after the Pentagon and Stennis, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, agreed to it.

Stennis also accepted a compromise amendment trimming to $75 million the defense emergency fund, a Pentagon contingency budget which was to have been $100 million. That one passed 94 to 0.

But Stennis defended the $20 billion military authorization program his committee produced as a balanced and vital measure. He criticized efforts to change it on the floor "piece by piece."

"We better know what we're doing," the Mississippi Democrat said.

After listing U.S. commitments abroad, Stennis said: "There are points besides honor in just turning our backs on these commitments. There is involved the security of the United States."

Speaking of Vietnam, Stennis commented: "The Lord only knows how we'll get out or when we'll get out."

Stennis said he has worked to bring military spending under control and wants it cut by at least $10 billion a year after Vietnam.

But he warned against a mood of resistance to defense programs.

Fulbright said that in seeking to hold down military spending, there is no slander of military men.

puter operation."

The rendezvous radar was keeping track of Michael Collins, orbiting overhead in the command ship.

"It told us for a brief instant the computer was reaching a point of being overprogrammed or having too many jobs waiting for it to do," Aldrin added. "Unfortunately, it came at a point when we did not want to be trying to solve these particular problems. We wanted to be able to look out the window and identify features so that we could pinpoint the landing."

"We realized we had a possible abort situation to contend with," Armstrong said. "But our procedure throughout was to always try to keep going as long as we could so we could bypass these types of problems."

Control told the astronauts to stop asking the computer to display landing information. Instead, the ground passed up the information in a series of dramatic "Go's."

"We really have to give the credit to the control center in this case," Armstrong said. "They were really the people who really came through and helped us and said, 'Continue,' which is what we wanted to hear."

Little Change in Arkansas Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Little change in weather conditions except for a slight warming trend is expected in Arkansas through Wednesday, the U.S. Weather Bureau said today.

With a large high pressure system covering the eastern half of the nation, there is little chance of shower activity except along the Gulf coast.

Temperatures Monday afternoon were in the mid 90s at most places. The high was 99 at Texarkana.

Low tonight is expected to be in the mid 60s to mid 70s. Over-night lows included 60 at El Dorado, 62 at Harrison, 63 at Little Rock, 64 at Fayetteville and Pine Bluff, 66 at Jonesboro, Memphis and Texarkana and 68 at Fort Smith.

No rain was recorded during the 24-hour period ended at 7 a.m. today.

Little Rock In Unrest Monday Night

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Several sporadic disturbances in a predominantly Negro area of Little Rock were reported Monday night and police said two shots were fired at officers.

There were no reports of injuries.

Police also reported several firebombings and some rock-throwing.

Firemen said one side of Frick's Drugs was heavily damaged by fire. District Chief Bill Ross said there were indications that the fire may have been caused by a fire bomb thrown against the side of the building.

Only Elite to Dine With Astronauts

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Apollo 11 astronauts and 1,600 of the nation's elite will dine with President Nixon Wednesday night while millions of uninvited guests watch on television.

The entire event—from hours of pre-reception to seven course dinner—will go on the air.

Dignitaries, entertainers and aviation pioneers began arriving today for the festivities.

ESD Expands Services to Area Counties

The Employment Security Division has begun a new program of greatly expanding its services to residents of Hempstead, Howard, Lafayette and Nevada counties, Teddy Jones, manager of the Hope ESD office, announced today.

The four-county area is the first in Arkansas to begin the expanded operation, which will take the ESD to the people in the areas where the most need exists.

The Hope office has always served the four counties, but prior to this, most of the service outside Hempstead county has been in the form of processing unemployment insurance claims, Jones pointed out.

"Under the new program, which we call 'rural manpower services,' we plan to take our full services into the counties, particularly the rural areas, to reach those people who most need job assistance and give employers more adequate placement services," he said.

Teams of job interviewers and counselors will visit all towns in the four counties on a continuing basis. Services to be provided job seekers will include occupational counseling, job development and placement, and in some cases vocational training to meet individual needs.

"We will be aiming our activities at serving the disadvantaged residents who need these services the most," Jones said. "We feel these people will greatly benefit from this effort."

Jones pointed out the area is experiencing a very short supply of qualified workers. At the same time, he said there are fairly large numbers of unemployed persons who need work and could be trained to meet employers' requirements.

As the expanded operations gain momentum, ESD interviewers will be contacting employers in the four counties to solicit job openings and offer other assistance.

Several employers have already expressed interest. In some cases, on-job training costs. Other occupational training will be offered in the vocational schools.

The expanded ESD operations will also have indirect benefits to the area. Part of the overall plans call for comprehensive labor surveys to be conducted in the four counties.

These surveys will record the skill levels and other characteristics of the available labor force. Such information is particularly useful in attracting new industry or enabling existing industry to expand.

The first survey will be conducted in Hempstead county in September.

Several other agencies are co-operating in the ESD's expanding operations, including the Community Action Agency and Technical Action Panels in the four counties.

Mayor Sues Himself But Is 'Innocent'

HYPOLUXO, Fla. (AP) — Mayor James M. Brown Jr. is suing himself, but he's darned if he's going to serve himself with a subpoena and then try himself in court.

Sound kind of complicated? It is.

In addition to being mayor and a member of the Town Council, Brown is police chief and judge in this hamlet of 200.

He and his nephew, Chris Robinson, jointly own a piece of property near the Intercoastal Waterway. Robinson recently opened a boat sales lot on the acreage. The town council charged Robinson with a violation of its zoning ordinance which requires sales operations to be housed under a roof.

As mayor, Brown ordered his nephew either to comply with the act within 30 days or remove the boats.

Robinson did neither.

The Town Council, including Brown, then voted unanimously to go to court for an injunction to close the boat lot. As president of the two-man corporation owning the land, Brown was named defendant.

As police chief it seemed up to him to serve himself with the court papers. And then, as judge...

At this point Brown called a halt in the train of events.

He turned the whole problem over to the Palm Beach Circuit Court.

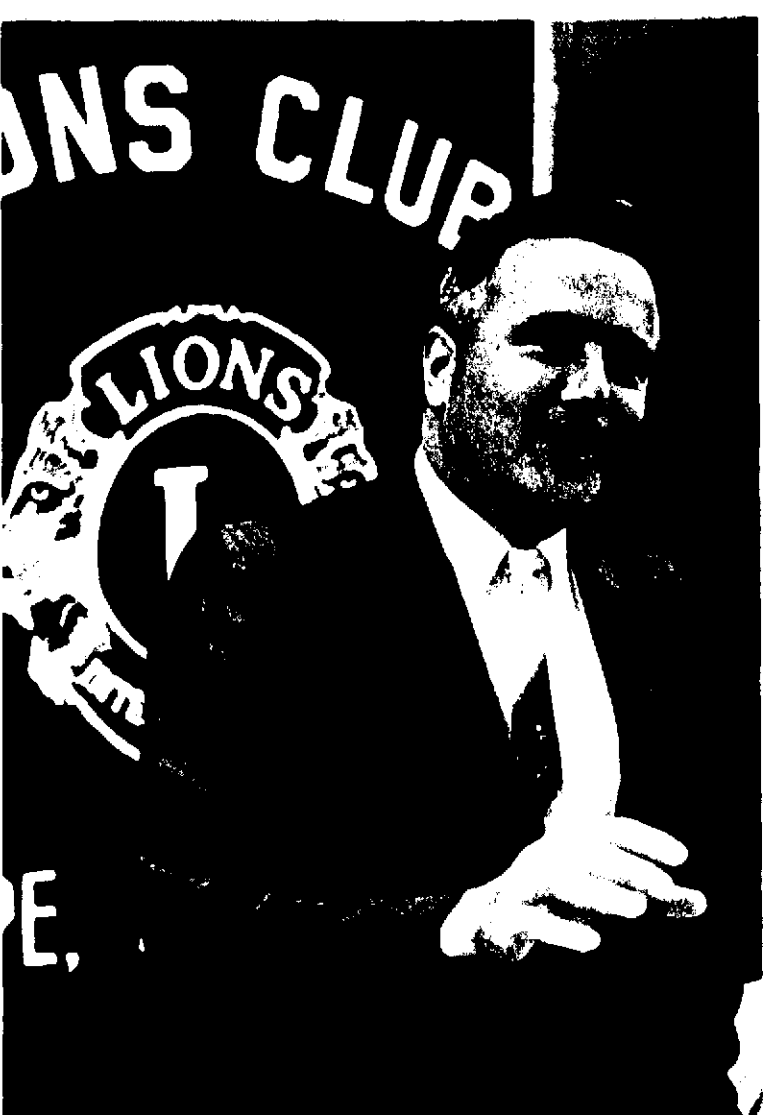

"I'm entirely innocent, but I'm caught in the middle of this mess," the mayor said in a press statement.

"I want it fully understood I don't condone any violation of our town zoning laws. I want our laws strictly enforced."

DAVID VERBLE

Immediate past president Bill Cross accepting moments of past years service from club president Paul McClellan.

David Verble of Hot Springs, a representative of Wyeth Laboratories discussed the population explosion at yesterday's meeting of the Hope Lions at Town & Country.

He made many interesting statements regarding food needs in the years ahead and pointed out that the average American family eats about two and a half tons of food per year that is due to longer life span and wasteful eating habits the average American uses enough good to feed as many as 25 less fortunate persons in other parts of the world.

Mr. Verble then presented a film on birth control that has been shown worldwide. It was a silent film, unique in this age, but so well planned that it could overcome the language barrier in most countries.

Dr. Lowell Harris introduced Mr. Verble. There will be no noon meeting Aug. 18, instead Lions and their families will meet at Fair park at 7 p.m. for the annual family picnic. Ferrell Williams is in charge of this affair.

Gregg Thomas of Danville was guest of Elmer Wagner.

The expression, "Poor as Job's turkey," was originated by a rustic humorist named "Sam Slick." It was intended to indicate someone who was even poorer than the Biblical Job, who was the very personification of poverty.

Burger Agrees Justice Takes Too Long

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, agreed today with Americans who complain that justice takes too long.

He also proposed a possible solution: the immediate training of "skilled managers" to take over problems of administration, leaving judges free to judge.

In almost every large court house in the country, Burger told the American Bar Association's House of Delegates, frustrated and angry citizens called for jury service spend about 80 per cent of their time just waiting.

Witnesses called for a precise day and hour, having left their jobs, also find themselves spending most of their time waiting, the chief justice said.

"Many lawyers have come to accept this philosophically and many have simply surrendered to 'The System,'" Burger went on. "The public will not."

FASHION IN THE NEWS

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The sweetest dreams of the season may well occur while wearing wide-awake nighttime fashions.

Designers have taken the ho-hum out of sleepwear with new emphasis on swingy, zesty junior nitery.

Created expressly for girls in the high school, college and career set the new sandman spectacles have a special appeal for astute cuties who want around-the-clock fashion and not a scaled-down version of more conventional nightwear.

One of the leaders, Berkleigh Juniors, for example, suggests tunic-topped, lace-graced pantsleeper suits in gingham checks or near sheer minilength shifts of leno with teeny-bikinis underneath. A far cry from straight-laced sleepwear, they are.

If that approach isn't worth staying up for, the junior designers have come up with the modern Scarlet O'Hara fashions—beruffled, bewildered, deceptively de-

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

THE REAL GENERATION GAP?

Dear Helen: I can sympathize with "Don't Understand Them" who, at 25, feels out of touch with the "younger" generation.

I work in an office with college girls and women whose children are almost my age. I can communicate with the older groups; but the teen-age girls talk a strange language, with few inhibitions and (I believe) a lot of bragging to impress or shock me.

When I was a teen, if a boy got drunk on a bottle of cheap wine, he was "wild." Now the kids discuss pot parties and sex as casually as we mentioned cigarettes.

Strangely enough, the middle-aged women seem to understand these silly children. But many of us "in-betweeners" just can't relate with persons less than five years our junior. Are we really so old-fashioned?—BEWILDERED

Dear Bewildered: . . . Not old-fashioned: Just getting older, but not yet old enough to view without a tinge of jealousy—and remorse. These kids, you see, have the freedom of speech and action that your so-called quiet generation missed. Also, they're living reminders of the recent mistakes you'd just as soon forget.

It's often true that people understand an age-group least when they have just graduated from it. Witness the 12th graders' put down of those "dirty little delinquents" over at junior high.—H.

Dear Helen: I have been dating, off and on for over three years, a wonderful girl. I am 20, in business for myself, and doing well. She is 18, working part time and attending college. The problem is this:

For the past two years I have begged and pleaded with her to take our relationship more seriously and consider the possibility of marriage. But she balked. Finally she refused to see me and began dating her again.

But again she said she was not ready—she didn't want to be tied down. So it's occasional dates, nothing more.

Helen, I'm ready for marriage, mure Granny gowns. Or Alice in Wonderland, drop waist doll dresses, all done up in eyelet embroidery and lace.

There's more of the stuff that dreams are made of—shifts, fetchingly smocked, embroidered and appliqued like mini Mother Hubbards—all bikini-ed and beautiful. These come in a variety of ways including windowpane checks on cotton and demi-checks on brushed Dacron and cotton.

Another important virtue of these junior fashions is that they're just as good as stay-ups. Comfy, table, designed for freedom of movement they're perfect for the small hours of the morning kind of gabfests. All are of easy-care, washable fabrics that require a minimum of attention.

So if you have been dreaming about the young kind of sleepwear that makes you feel like a storybook heroine, wake up, it's here and at prices that are mini, too.

Wangle an invitation to a slumber party. These goodies are just too eye-opening to keep strictly under covers.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television is a man's game, as a quick look at the three network entertainment schedule will prove. After all, in a medium well stocked with action and adventure, it is logical that the incidence of male stars is greater than that of women.

But the distaff side is registering some prime-time gains. Top-drawer TV stardom consists of naming a show after the performer. Next season there will be 16 shows with such tags, and six will star women. Lucille Ball, Carol Burnett and Doris Day return in their series, their ranks swelled by Debbie Reynolds, Leslie Uggams and the Lennon Sisters, with new shows.

Action shows like "Ironside," and "Mannix" inject a feminine balance by casting pretty girls as assistants or Girl Fridays, but Peggy Lipton of "Mod Squad" shares top billing with the two young male leads.

There would not be much show left if the Barbara Eden part of "I Dream of Jeannie" were removed. Barbara Feldon is essential to "Get Smart," and Eva Gabor's gentle comedy gives "Green Acres" its spice.

Undisputed stars of their series are Diahann Carroll of "Julia," Mario Thomas of "That Girl," Elizabeth Montgomery of "Bewitched," Sally Field of "The Flying Nun." And it appears that Lana Turner will be the dominating figure in "The Survivors," a new dramatic series.

When situation comedy is popular, women's roles become more important. Hope Lang is a vital ingredient in "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir," and now comes along "The Governor and J.J."—J.J. being the governor's daughter played by Julie Sommars. In "The Brady Bunch," Florence Henderson plays the mother of a large family headed by Robert Reed.

The ladies seem to have slipped only in one show—"Mission: Impossible." Regular Barbara Bains quit the show, and instead of casting another girl in a running part, viewers will be seeing an assortment of pretty faces, ranging from Dina Merrill to Lee Ann Meriwether, a former Miss America.

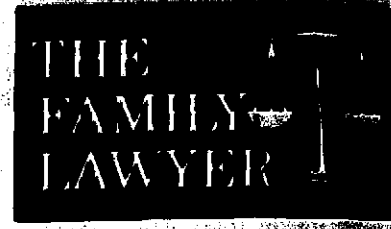

On NBC Sept. 29 four more new daytime programs will bump four old ones. "Sale of the Century," a game show hosted by Jack Kelly, takes over the spot held by "Personality."

"Name dropers," a game show, will take Bill Cullen's "Eye Guess" time period.

A soap opera, "Bright Promise," starring Dana Andrews will be agonizing where six-year-old "You Don't Say" is on its last legs, and a spin-off which uses Dana Andrews viewers and called "Cameo Laughs-In" which Gay Owens replaces the venerable "Mannix Game."

CBS and Art Linkletter family part company when, on Sept. 8, reruns of "Come Fly With Me" replace the long-playing "Houseparty."

Wife Versus Parents

If a bridegroom is lucky, his bride and his parents will work out their new relationship in sweet peace and harmony. But what if they don't—and he is "in the middle"? Where do his duties lie? By and large, the law says his wife comes first. Take this case:

A man was haled into court by his wife for non-support. In his defense, he explained: "I give every nickel I make to my elderly parents. I just feel they need the money more than we do."

But the court decided this was no excuse, and ordered him to start taking care of his wife. The judge said she had first claim on his earnings.

A similar principle applies to the family domicile. A man accused his wife of desertion, after she walked out on him. But in court, she pointed out that she had good reason for leaving: her husband allowed his mother not only to live with them but also to run the household with an iron hand.

Ruling in the wife's favor, the court said:

"When a man marries and founds a new family, he assumes new duties. When these conflict with his former ties, they must be held paramount. The very existence of the family depends on this principle. Whatever his filial obligations may be, a man may not bring his mother to reside in his new home. That place belongs to the wife."

Nevertheless, the law does not insist on total estrangement of a husband from his parents.

In another case, a man brought his ailing, elderly mother into his home—partly for the sake of sentiment, partly for the sake of economy. However, it was his wife, not his mother, who had full charge of managing the household.

Was this husband falling down on his marital obligations? This time, a court said no. The judge said that, although a wife does rank as Number One, she still must make fair and reasonable adjustments to reality—to make the marriage work.

Reds Edge Phils, Astros Batter Mets

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

This has been a dream season for the New York Mets, marred only by an occasional nightmare courtesy of Tom Griffin and the Houston Astros.

The latest episode occurred Monday night by a 3-0 score, it was Houston's 85th victory in 134 games with the Mets since the expansion twins were born in 1962. The record in Houston is now 49-17—28-12 in the Astrodome and 21-5 in old Colt Stadium.

Griffin was the chief culprit, yielding four hits and striking out nine in eight innings before giving way to Fred Gladding, who notched his 24th save. The 21-year-old rookie right-hander has whipped the Mets all three times he's faced them, allowing no runs, only 13 hits and fanning 28 in 25 innings.

The loss dropped the second-place Mets 7½ games behind the Chicago Cubs in the National League East and left them only two percentage points in front of the surging St. Louis Cardinals, who tripped Los Angeles 4-2.

In the only other NL contest, the Cincinnati Reds edged Philadelphia 4-3 and stretched their lead in the West to three games over the Atlanta Braves. Fifth-place Houston remained 4½ back, one-half game behind Los Angeles and San Francisco.

In the American League, Oakland whipped Baltimore 7-4, California downed Detroit 3-1, Boston turned back the Chicago White Sox 5-2, Washington nipped Kansas City 2-1 and Seattle shelled Cleveland 8-2. Minnesota and New York were not scheduled.

As far as the Mets are concerned, the best thing about Houston is that they only have two games left with the Astros in 1969. The Astros have won eight of 10—and seven in a row—from New York, the only club to hold an edge over the Mets this season.

Griffin, 8-5, has a 4.46 earned run average against the rest of the league, but it's 3.59 over all—thanks to the Mets. Manager Harry Walker yanked him after he fell behind the leadoff batter in the ninth. Gladding completed the walk and also allowed a single, but got J.C. Martin to bounce into a game-ending double play with runners on first and third.

"He said I wasn't throwing the ball well," Griffin reported. "He said I lost something the previous inning. I thought I could still finish. I wanted to, but Harry and (pitching coach Jim) Owens can see things from the dugout that I don't know on the mound. As it was, they made a good decision. We won the game, so I can't complain."

The Astros took a 1-0 lead against Jim McAndrew, 3-5, in the second on the first of Denis Menke's three singles, a walk to Curt Blefary and Doug Rader's single. They added two insurance runs in the fifth when Jim Wynn singled and Norm Miller walked. They advanced on Menke's infield out and scored on a single by Blefary.

Tim McCarver drilled a three-run homer and Joe Hoerner rescued Steve Carlton in the ninth inning as the Cards won for the 27th time in 34 games. After the Cards grabbed a 1-0 lead in the first on a wild pick-off attempt by Claude Osteen, 15-10, McCarver unloaded with two out in the fourth.

"This is the first home run I can remember hitting here (Dodger Stadium) against a left-hander," said McCarver, a Series, left-handed hitter. "I think I might be a little better against lefties because I'm forced to concentrate more and hang in there, which is what a good hitter has to do."

But he couldn't explain the Cardinals' sudden turnaround after a dismal start that easily. "I don't know what happened," he said, "but all of a sudden about a month ago we came to the ballpark and decided to put our heads down and drive through the wall."

Cincinnati's Jim Merritt scored the winning run in the eighth inning on Jim Stewart's single and combined with reliever Wayne Granger to stop the Phillies, who have lost their first four starts under new skipper George Myatt.

Johnny Bench cracked a solo homer for the Reds—his fourth in five games—while Deron Johnson hit a tie-run shot for the Phils.

Drysdale to Retire This Season

Scott Drysdale says he's in good physical shape—strong legs, good reflexes, timing just as good as ever. Only one thing is bothering him but it's forcing his retirement.

The 6-foot-6 Los Angeles Dodger right-hander said Monday he was quitting baseball because of a painful injury to his right shoulder, an injury diagnosed as a torn "rotary cup" what gets your arm in position to throw and creates elasticity.

The injury put the 219-pounder out of action for the first time on April 22, when he went on the disabled list hoping rest would cure the pain.

He returned, pitched well but fitfully and was sidelined again early last month. Back July 27, he pitched three games, then said he didn't want to hurt the team with his inconsistency.

With a 5-4 record, he said "this team has a chance to go all the way. I don't want to jeopardize their chances."

"After a lot of talking, and soul-searching, especially in the last four days," Drysdale announced his retirement at a news conference Monday.

In 14 seasons with the Dodgers, Big D won more games—209—than any other Dodger in history. He also holds club records for most innings pitched, 3,342; most strikeouts, 2,486; and most shutouts, 49. Last season, one of his most successful, Drysdale hurled six straight shutouts and had a string of 58 2-3 consecutive scoreless innings to set major league records.

Using a sidwinding style, the huge ace of the Dodgers was known for pitching with all sorts of ailments—shingles, shin splints, broken ribs. He constantly used his arms and legs to stop line drives and was almost always bruised someplace.

In his earlier years, his live fastball and hot temper were his trademarks. But in the last few years, Drysdale assumed a calm attitude and rather than using a blazing fastball, he settled for control.

In 1962, the iron man of the Dodger staff led the National League in innings pitched, 314; in games won, 25 against nine defeats; and in strikeouts, 232. He won the Cy Young Award as the outstanding major league pitcher.

Drysdale struck out 200 or more batters in six different seasons. Only once in the last seven seasons did his earned run average go above 3.00. Last year, his season ERA was 2.15. He allowed 201 hits in 239 innings.

With Drysdale, the Dodgers have won five National League pennants and three World Series.

"He's one of the all-time great stars," said Dodger owner Walter O'Malley. "The retirement of Don is a loss to

The Minnesota Vikings knew what to do with quarterback Joe Kapp's sprained knee. But what will they do about Cory Davis' sore foot?

Kapp injured his right knee during Saturday's 26-6 exhibition victory over the Denver Broncos and was hobbling around training camp today in a walking cast. Coach Bud Grant says he hopes the cast will hasten healing so Kapp will be ready to go against the St. Louis Cardinals Aug. 23.

Davis, a 21-year-old rookie running back from Kansas State, had been acquired by Pittsburgh from Minnesota last week. But he was returned to the Vikings Monday after he reported to the Steelers' camp with a sore foot. Davis was the nation's leading scorer his sophomore year. He had been acquired by Pittsburgh in a trade for wide receiver Ken Herbert and a kicker. The Steelers said Herbert would remain with the Vikings but the trade would have to be renegotiated.

The Broncos emerged from their first pre-season outing with nothing more serious than a few bumps and bruises.

The Buffalo Bills, still licking their chops over their 21-17 weekend upset over Vince Lombardi's Washington Redskins, welcomed O.J. Simpson into training camp after a wild airport reception for the Heisman Trophy running back. After an airport welcome by 2,000 exuberant fans, Simpson said, "I hope Friday's game in Detroit isn't as rough as the reception here."

The Redskins traded tight end Ken Baretfoot to the Detroit Lions for a 1970 draft choice. Also placed on waivers were running backs Vihis Ezerins and Don Fitzgerald.

In Green Bay, Wis., the police say someone covered a half-dozen Lombardi Avenue street signs with bumper-type stickers reading "Hornung Drive."

Lombardi, the Packers' former coach and general manager, left earlier this year to coach the Redskins and Hornung, now retired, was the Packers' star halfback under Lombardi. The police say the signs will have to be taken down and repainted.

The St. Louis Cardinals came out of their 13-6 victory over the New York Jets with some very firm opinions about the Jets, and their chances against the New York Giants Sunday. The Giants must also bounce back from a 22-21 drubbing by the Packers for what's billed as the New York City Championship.

"The Jets will kill them," said Bob De Marco, the Cardinals' nine-year veteran center. The Cardinals also think Jets Coach Weeb Ewbank will release his veterans—including quarterback Joe Namath—full force.

"Namath won't be playing just for half the game," De Marco said. "That game is going to be a blood game."

The Jets' only casualty—besides their pride—was veteran wide receiver Matt Snell, who suffered a separated rib cartilage.

The Giants will be without end Pete Gent, linebacker Tommy Critcher and defensive back Bruce Maher, who sprained their ankles; guard Pete Case, wrenched knee; safety Spider Lockhart, bruised thigh; and linebacker Ken Avery, pinched neck nerve.

The Baltimore Colts came through unscathed from their 34-30 victory over Oakland but

Kansas Coach Wants Salb to Play Football

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Pepper Rodgers, football coach at Kansas, said Monday he hopes he can talk Karl Salb of Crossett, Ark., out of quitting football.

Salb, a standout defensive tackle for Kansas last year, has said he planned to forego his final two years of football eligibility for fear that an injury might curtail his career as a shot putter.

Salb is the NCAA outdoor and indoor shot put champion and he is presently touring Europe with a U.S. track team.

"I don't know if he's going to play football or not," Rodgers said. "He talks to everyone but me."

"It will be a blow to our program, because we need him," Rodgers said. "But if he doesn't want to play, then he just doesn't want to play."

McNally Drops 2nd Loss to Oakland

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dave McNally has helped make the Baltimore Orioles the overwhelming choice to win the American League's Eastern Division, but he's playing no favorites in the West.

The Orioles' left-hander, who had his record-tying 17-game winning streak snapped by the Minnesota Twins last week, evened things out Monday night by losing to the Oakland A's 7-4. Although he certainly didn't plan it that way, his only two losses this season have kept the Twins and A's nip-and-tuck in the West Division.

Oakland's six-run seventh inning pulled the A's within one game of the idle Twins, the closest they've been since July 5. But it didn't cause any great damage to the Orioles, who still lead their division by 14½ games over Detroit, which was beaten by California and Rudy May's three-hitter, 3-1.

In other games, Seattle's Don Mincher rapped a grand slam homer in an 8-2 rout over Cleveland, Boston handed the Chicago White Sox their sixth consecutive loss, 5-2, and Washington slipped past Kansas City 2-1 in the only games scheduled.

In the National League, Cincinnati edged Philadelphia 4-3, Houston blanked the New York Mets 3-0 and St. Louis tripped Los Angeles 4-2 in the only games.

McNally, who won his first 15 games this season and has 16 victories in all, buried himself in the seventh when he gave a hit to Tom Reynolds, a walk and hit a batter to load the bases.

An error on a grounder by normally sure-handed Brooks Robinson let in the first run and Marcelino Lopez relieved, Jose Tartabull greeted him with a two-run single that put Oakland ahead and Reggie Jackson slammed a double for another run. Two more runs scored off Dick Hall on Danny Cater's sacrifice fly and an infield out.

That settled the nationally-telvised contest, ending Oakland's three-game losing streak and Baltimore's six-game winning string, the last three over Minnesota during the weekend. May, 5-9, gave up an unearned first inning run without a hit and then yielded singles to Mickey Stanley in the fourth, Bill Freehan in the seventh and Willie Horton in the ninth as he ended the Tigers' five-game winning streak.

Batterymate Tom Egan gave him the hit he needed, a two-run homer in the second inning off Earl Wilson, 10-8, before Egan was hit in the head with a pitch by Wilson in the seventh and carried from the field. He was not believed to be injured seriously.

Mincher connected in the fifth inning and broke a 2-2 tie with his 20th homer. Diego Segui, 9-4, hurled a six-hitter, added three more runs with a bases loaded walk in the fourth and a two-run single in the ninth.

Boston landed on the White Sox with four runs in the first inning on Carl Yastrzemski's two-run double followed by Reggie Smith's 23rd homer. The Red Sox didn't get another hit off four Chicago relievers after the second inning, but Mike Nagy, 7-2, and Sparky Lyle, who took over in the seventh after Pete Ward's two-run pinch-hit homer, held off the White Sox.

Dick Bosman, 8-5, stopped Kansas City on five hits and scored the tie-breaking run from second base on Jackie Hernandez' throwing error in the eighth inning for Washington's victory. Bosman drew a one-out walk off loser Jim Rooker, 2-10, and Hank Allen singled with two out for the fourth hit off Rooker. Shortstop Hernandez then threw wild to first on Frank Howard's grounder.

The only run off Bosman was Pat Kelly's third inning homer, but Tim Cullen matched that with a sacrifice fly in the fifth.

COMEBACKS—Two of pro football's greatest stars, quarterback Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts (left) and running back Gale Sayers of the Chicago Bears have both been impressive in preseason games. Unitas was out most of last season with muscle tear of his right (throwing) elbow. Sayers tore knee ligaments last November and missed the remainder of the season. Both followed strenuous rehabilitation programs since last fall.

Alworth, Hadl Give Hopes to Chargers

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The return of veterans such as quarterback John Hadl and all-pro receiver Lance Alworth, plus lineup changes and some promising rookies offer hope of better days for San Diego's perennially third-place Chargers of the American Football League.

The rookies include Bob Babich, the Miami of Ohio line-backer who won defensive honors in the College All-Stars' 26-24 loss Aug. 1 to the New York Jets.

There's also quarterback Marty Domres, the Chargers' No. 1 draft choice from Columbia. "That boy has a bright future," says Coach Sid Gillman. Of Mike Simpson, a wide receiver obtained from Houston as San Diego's No. 13 draft choice, Gillman is ecstatic.

"I'm really excited about Simpson," says the only head coach San Diego has ever known. "He's got tremendous speed, bagginess and moves."

"We've got some very bright prospects."

But the Chargers aren't hurting for receivers with Lance Alworth and Gary Garrison. Each has caught passes in excess of 1,000 yards in a single season.

Alworth, the 6-foot "all-time all-pro" in Gillman's view, has finished his sixth season with more than 1,000 yards—the only player in pro history to do it. Garrison, a San Diego boy, has caught 142 passes. Backing them up are Jacques MacKinnon, with a 646-yard year, and Willie Frazier.

The Chargers were the AFL's Western champions in 1969, their first season, and in 1961, 1963, 1964 and 1965. In between, they finish third. In 1963, they won the AFL title.

This looks to many like the fourth year in a row for a third-place finish, once again behind Oakland and Kansas City.

The key, along with an all-veteran offensive line and depth on defense, seems to be Hadl, despite his disappointed showing in San Diego's 26-6 preseason loss Aug. 2 to Baltimore. He completed 15 of 30 passes for 171 yards and gave up two interceptions.

Since Hadl became a San Diego starter in 1964, the one-time Kansas flash has passed for 112 touchdowns. He set team records in last year's 9-5 season with 440 passes, a total of 3,473 yards gained and 27 touchdown tosses.

The veteran signal caller has exceeded 300 yards passing in 13 games over a seven-year career—two shy of the league record set by George Blanda. But he was erratic against Baltimore, with a hand in two fumbles, and his passes were wild and low.

"We've got a good team," says Hadl. "We'll get there."

Keith Lincoln, Gene Foster and Dick Post will carry San Diego's ground game. Against Baltimore, the Chargers rushed for 113 yards. Gillman is more concerned about passing. In Domres, a 6-3½ 217-pound quarterback who was the nation's fourth best college passer last year, Hadl may get help.

The critical San Diego fans, heading for their new $27-million football stadium, expect to be pleased.

Chicago Youth Swims Channel to England

DOVER, England (AP) — John Erikson, a 14-year-old Chicago schoolboy relaxed today after his triumphant swim of the 22-mile wide English Channel and planned more adventures for the future.

"I'll try Lake Michigan next," he said, "and then maybe come back here and make a two-way non-stop bid."

John, a descendent of the Viking seafarer Leif Erikson, Sunday became the youngest person ever to swim the channel.

His father, Ted, has swum 60-mile wide Lake Michigan and also holds the 30 hours 3 minutes record for the two-way non-stop channel crossing.

John said he sang pop songs from France to England.

"I never felt tired at all," he said. "I swam at about 50 strokes a minute and I was very comfortable."

He ate a few canned peaches and drank black tea mixed with glucose.

When he came ashore he enjoyed a long hot bath and then a giant plateful of chicken and ravioli.

"It has been a tremendous challenge," said Erikson. "Every long distance swimmer wants to succeed here, but I had an added incentive because my dad had done it."

Glance

1968 finish-Third in AFL West Division.

1968 record—9-5.

Probable 1969 finish—Third. Team's strong points—Good receivers, veteran offensive line.

Team's weaknesses—Lack of healthy running backs and an effective pass rush.

Best rookies—Linebacker Bob Babich, quarterback Marty Domres and running back Ron Sayres.

No Trouble for Black Pro Golfers

By BOB GREENE
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Curtis Sifford is one of the lesser lights on the pro golf tour, usually having to qualify each week for a tournament berth and winding up not meeting expenses.

But he's representative of the new breed—the black pro golfer.

"All I've got to do is play," Sifford said during the recently-concluded $100,000 Greater Milwaukee Open. "I don't have any problems on the tour."

A native of Los Angeles, Curtis is one of nine Negroes on the tour, playing at country clubs where he could not become a member.

This is Sifford's first year on the tour, but his name is well known. He's the nephew of Charlie Sifford, who was on the tour for several years and is vocal about his inability to play in the famed Masters tournament.

The others on the tour include Lee Elder, the top black golfer this year. Elder finished third at Milwaukee, picking up $7,100, and might have won the $20,000 first prize if it So't for one hole, the 12th, which he bogeyed all four rounds. Elder wound up only three strokes off the winning pace set by Ken Still.

Americans Try to Revive Reputation

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. track and field team, weakened by illness and injuries and disgruntled over the structure of its sport, faced Britain today in a bid to revive its dropping reputation.

The Americans have not dominated their European tour as some experts predicted. They lost against Europe at Stuttgart, and they did not have an easy time beating West Germany at Augsburg.

On the eve of the match against Britain, the Americans cabled President Nixon asking for a government investigation into the whole structure of track and field in the United States.

Two stars missing from the America line-up against Britain are John Carlos, Olympic 200-meters bronze medalist, and Bob Beamon, broad jump star. Both cut short the tour and went home.

For the British, the meet is a prestige event and an important tune-up for the European Games scheduled for Athens next month.

Despite the weakening of the American team, few experts thought the British would win.

WACs Are Candidates for General

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army may be in the process of selecting its first woman general.

Officers on the Army's distaff side report happily that for the first time the records of Women's Army Corps colonels are being included in the annual review of candidates for brigadier general.

"It doesn't necessarily mean we're going to have one of our own make it this time," Col. Elizabeth P. Holsington, director of the WACs, told a reporter. "But the nicest thing is that at least they are now giving everybody a chance."

Nixon Meets With Four Cabinet Men

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Four Cabinet officers and a score of key advisers gathered with President Nixon today to discuss economic policy, manpower training and domestic problems.

Nixon scheduled morning sessions in his new complex of prefabricated office buildings, built at a cost of more than $129,000 at the Coast Guard station adjoining his summer home.

He called in Secretary of Labor George Shultz to discuss a message to be sent to Congress today on manpower retraining proposals that are part of the administration's new welfare package.

And he scheduled a meeting of the Cabinet Committee on Economic Policy including Treasury Secretary David Ken-

Body Recovered From Lake

Mexico Line Doesn't Stop Dope Runners

By VERN HAUGLAND
AP Aviation Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hedge-hopping pilots running in narcotics from south of the border are prompting the United States to tighten its traditionally lax boundaries with Mexico.

The Federal Aviation Agency has announced it plans firmer restrictions on flights between the two countries because of increasing use of aircraft to escape detection at the Mexican border.

The main concern, the FAA said in a notice of proposed rules in the Federal Register, is that illegal air traffic involving narcotics can create flight hazards.

Low altitude radar and pursuit aircraft currently are used against violators, the FAA said, concluding that "any pilot committed to escaping these devices may be expected to engage in extremely dangerous flight techniques."

In order to escape detection at the border narcotics smugglers operate from unprepared landing areas and in weather conditions beyond their flying capabilities, the FAA said.

Under the proposed regulations all pilots flying civil aircraft between Mexico and the United States would have to file flight plans and radio position reports. Pilots lacking a two-way radio would have to land at the nearest designated airport of entry and file an arrival notice.

Currently, there are no flight plan or radio position reporting requirements.

The new rule would provide identification for the aircraft and pilot, name the takeoff and destination airports, routes and altitudes to be flown and give departure and arrival times.

The FAA could suspend or revoke the pilot certificate of any violator. Or it could suspend the operating certificate of the owner or lesser when the airplane is owned or leased by an airline, commercial operator, air travel club or air taxi operator.

The Bureau of Customs reported that 8 per cent of the marijuana seized along the border during the first three quarters of the last fiscal year was involved in airplane cases.

nedy, Agriculture Secretary Clifford Hardin and Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans.

Another session was with domestic policy counselors ranging from welfare adviser Daniel P. Moynihan to science adviser Lee DuBridge.

Nixon urged Congress Monday to act quickly on his $4-billion plan for assuring every American family a basic income and ending what he called the unfairness of the present welfare system.

The figure "30" is a newspaperman's symbol which means "end of the story."

PRESIDENTIAL APPOINTEE FROM ARKANSAS

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Dr. William E. Amos (light suit) of Clarksville and Charleston, after his swearing-in as the newest member of the United States Board of Parole. Supreme Court Justice Byron "Whizzer" White, at Amos' right, administered the oath of office in Department of Justice proceedings. Arkansas Congressmen John Paul Hammerschmidt, left, and Bill Alexander, right, were among those who attended the ceremony. Amos will serve a term of six years on the eight-member board which holds sole authority to grant, modify, or revoke paroles of all U. S. prisoners.

Fayetteville Cager to Kansas

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Jerry House, 6-foot-6 basketball star at Fayetteville, signed a one-year basketball scholarship with the University of Kansas Monday.

Kansas Coach Ted Owens said House, the most valuable player in the Class AAA West conference last year, had the potential to play on the level of the Big Eight Conference.

Spanish Galleons Looted

Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, TEX. (AP) — State Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler says "pilfering, plundering and pillaging" pirates have looted the treasures from a fleet of sunken Spanish galleons off stored Padre Island.

"But we will catch them," the salty, snuff-dipping Sadler, 61, vowed at a news conference Monday.

"We will find these pirates and bring them and their booty into a court of justice if we have to trail them around the world."

Controversy has surrounded the treasure-laden vessels since an Indiana firm recovered a fortune in precious objects from one galleon earlier this year.

The ships went down in the Gulf of Mexico during a hurricane off the lower Texas coast in 1553. Their hulls reportedly contained millions of dollars in silver, gold and archeological treasures from Mexico.

All the objects recovered by the salvage firm, Platoro, Ltd., of Gary, Ind., are believed to be in the possession of the Texas Land Office. But Platoro has filed suit seeking title.

A district judge has granted a temporary restraining order against Platoro, prohibiting further salvage work.

Senate Tries to Revive Loan Guarantee

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate plans a last-ditch effort to revive the college student guaranteed loan program before Congress leaves on its three-week recess.

But Republicans charge that amendments pushed successfully by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., in the Labor Committee last Friday have upset negotiations to rush action on the bill.

Extensive cloakroom negotiations Monday failed to resolve the controversy over these amendments although Senate leaders did win an agreement for a vote on the bill today.

Republicans said they would seek to eliminate one of the Kennedy riders and perhaps both.

Even if the Senate passes the measure there is no guarantee the House will follow suit before the summer recess begins Wednesday afternoon.

Consideration of a similar measure was blocked Monday in the House. Some members there wish to use it as a vehicle for a provision to punish students involved in campus riots.

The key provision of the Senate bill is a subsidy payment which could mean a yield to banks of 10 per cent on the student loans.

The present interest ceiling is 7 per cent. This has meant that loan funds have dried up with the prime interest rate now at 8 1/2 per cent.

The Senate committee was told about 220,000 students seeking to enroll this fall will be denied loans because of the tight money situation unless congress votes the subsidies.

One of the Kennedy amendments would prohibit a bank or other lender from requiring a student or his family to have account with it to obtain a loan. Republicans said they definately would try to strike this from the bill.

The other would raise by $170 million the authorizations for two aid programs for youths from low-income families—the educational opportunity grant program and the college work-study program.

A GOP effort also may be made to eliminate this. The Republicans said Kennedy had put the bill in danger by offering amendments.

It will be too late when Congress returns in September from its recess because many students will have to enroll by then, they said.

The great bulk of college students who seek government aid must get it through the guaranteed loan program, the GOP legislators said.

Multipurpose Spacecraft Launched

By JIM STROTHMAN
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)

— A multipurpose spacecraft that can spread booms almost the length of a football field rocketed into orbit today packing an experiment that could help make transoceanic aircraft travel safer in the 1970s.

The $12 million spacecraft, called ATSS for the Fifth Applications Technology Satellite, could also make spacecraft relaying regional television programs more feasible.

Perched atop a powerful Atlas-Centaur rocket, ATSS roared away from Cape Kennedy at 7:01 a.m. EDT to begin a complex 17 1/2-hour flight expected to place the payload in a stationary orbit 23,300 miles over the equator west of South America.

The booster successfully drilled the 1,987-pound spacecraft into an initial earth orbit with a high point more than 3,000 miles above the ground.

Vote Returns Right to Work Law

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Constitutional Convention has voted again to return the right-to-work law in a proposed new constitution and rejected an effort to place the matter before the voters as a separate issue.

The amendment to place the matter on the 1970 ballot came from the main document made in a 21-68 vote and the proposal to retain right-to-work was approved 78-5.

The convention also defeated 31-68 an amendment that would have empowered the General Assembly to establish agency shops where more than 75 per cent of the employees in a bargaining unit vote for such a shop.

Gail Matthews of Little Rock offered the agency shop amendment and drew support from William Prewett of El Dorado, who said, "I personally feel that when you have this much restriction it is not wrong to ask this individual to pay his share."

Frank Cantrell of Little Rock said an agency shop amounted to taxation without representation and added that it was "inconceivable to me that anyone who is for the right-to-work principle could go for this."

A non-union member would be required to pay union dues in an agency shop but would not be subject to union rules.

There was no debate on the proposal to retain the right-to-work provision, which previously had been strongly endorsed by the delegates.

State Labor Commissioner Arthur Hays, a delegate from North Little Rock, sponsored the amendment to submit the matter to the voters apart from the main document.

Hays said most voters under age 45 hadn't had a chance to vote on the provision, which was approved by a margin of less than 18,000 votes in 1944.

"The people have a right to be heard on this," he said. "The whole question boils down to this—are you going to give the people the right to vote on this?"

The convention approved 77-6 a proposal that would subject the creation, consolidation or merger of counties to voters in the affected counties. The legislature could make the changes subject to the approval of the voters in each county affected.

However, the convention defeated 24-46 a proposal to give the legislature authority to change county boundaries without the consent of the voters.

The convention met again at 9 a.m. today.

spokesman said.

No one would ever insult Helen Sobel Smith by calling her a perfect bridge player. She takes plenty of chances and players who take chances can't be right all the time.

On the other hand, Helen is not inclined to play carelessly and when she has a choice between a right play and a wrong play, she will always make the right one.

Helen defended today's hand in an important match in 1937. Her partner's first-hand, three-heart bid was pre-emptive but a strong pre-emptive by most standards. Therefore Helen decided to try three no-trump. This led to the eventual adverse contract of five spades doubled.

Hearts were opened and continued. South ruffed the second heart. led a spade to dummy's king and continued with the nine. Helen covered with her 10 and declarer won with the jack.

His next play was the king of clubs. Helen took her ace and here is where a careless sort of player would go

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Eating Too Fast a Cause Of Gas in Stomach, Bowel

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—I have an excessive amount of gas after meals no matter what I eat. The non-prescription drugs I have tried have not helped. What do you advise?

A—Eating too fast and conscious efforts to belch cause you to swallow air. This increases the gas both in your stomach and your bowel. In addition to this, gas in the bowel comes from the fermentation of such foods as dry beans, corn, peas, potatoes and members of the cabbage family. When you eat a meal, the distention of your stomach puts added pressure on your lower bowel and increases the expulsion of gas.

Several preparations that contain methyloxyloxane, some of them requiring no prescription, are now available. They have been a godsend to airplane pilots and astronauts in whom high altitudes favor the expansion of any gases contained in the body.

Q—After every meal I have rumbling and gurgling in my abdomen. I also belch a lot. Is this due to indigestion or an ulcer?

A—Your rumblings are caused by the movement of a mixture of gas and fluid in your digestive tract. They are not, in themselves, a sign of either disease but may be associated with various gastrointestinal disturbances.

Q—I am taking Librium for bloating and stomach upsets. Do you know of anything better for those conditions?

A—Librium is a tranquilizer. Although it may help to relieve a "nervous stomach," it will not remove the underlying cause, which should be determined by your physician or a specialist in gastrointestinal diseases.

Q—Can the paternity of a child be determined through blood tests? If so, where are such tests made?

A—If an agglutination test of a baby's blood with the serum of the alleged father is negative, this would prove that the man is not the father. If the test is positive it indicates that the man wrong and play the last heart.

This play would have been fatal since South would ruff, play the jack of clubs, a club to dummy's queen and the last club to ruff in his own hand. This would leave declarer with the ace-eight of spades and two diamonds. He would simply cash dummy's ace and king of diamonds and lead another one. Helen would have to ruff and declarer would overruff.

Helen didn't go wrong. She returned a club. After this play it was impossible for declarer to shorten himself enough to develop the trump coup and he had to go down one trick.

President Nixon's proposed mass transit program calls for spending some $10 billion over the next 12 years. More than half the total would go for construction of new systems, mostly subways and rail lines, in big cities. Other major expenditures would be for improvement of existing transit services in large and smaller cities and for research and development of advanced systems such as gravity trains and air cushion vehicles.

Charges Green Beret Covers for the CIA

By RICK MERRON
Associated Press Writer

NHA TRANG, Vietnam (AP) — Col. Robert B. Rheault's successor as commander of the Green Berets in Vietnam said today he would not object to a congressional investigation of the case against Rheault and seven other Special Forces men accused with him of murdering a Vietnamese man.

"Congress has a right to know what we do—we work for Congress," said Col. Alexander Lemberes, 43.

A civilian attorney for one of the eight accused men, Maj. Thomas C. Middleton Jr. of Jefferson, S.C., called Monday for a congressional investigation of the mysterious case. He charged that Middleton was being "sacrificed" for political reasons and implied that the Army was covering up for the Central Intelligence Agency.

Lemberes, of Sparks, Nev., took command of the 5th Special Forces Group in June when Rheault, six other Green Beret officers, and a sergeant were arrested. They are being held in the Long Binh stockade, north of Saigon, while the Army decides whether to bring them to trial on charges of conspiring in the murder of an unidentified Vietnamese.

The Vietnamese is believed to have been exposed as a double agent working for the Americans and the Communists. Informal military sources said Monday his killing was an assigned "military mission," and Middleton's civilian attorney, George W. Gregory of Cheraw, S.C., said "the CIA was very gravely involved."

Lemberes said in an interview that he could not understand the manner in which U.S. Army authorities had handled the case, although he conceded that "they have the facts and figures," and he does not.

'Footprints on Moon' Now Being Published, Available to Public

Even before the astronauts had landed on the moon, the completed portions of our big book on the magnificent achievement, "Footprints on the Moon," had gone to press.

The presses will continue to whir while the final chapter is being written by John Barbour, The Associated Press space specialist who has had a prominent part in reporting front page news of the moon landing.

His finished manuscript will be delivered soon, according to present plans, and will be set in type at once. Then the only thing holding up final press work will be receipt from NASA of the color pictures taken by the astronauts. These will be subject to delay because of quarantine.

The photos will be sent to the engravers at once for the delicate process of turning out four-color book plates.

Three Stranded in Desert Die, Car Only a Mile From an Oasis

INDEPENDENCE, Calif. (AP) — Two men and a boy stranded in the desert by a car breakdown tried to walk 20 miles to civilization.

Without water and in 120-degree heat, they fell one by one. Searchers found the sun-blackened body of Arnold Dobson, 65, seven miles from the stranded car Sunday. Three miles on Jay Harold Mast Jr., 16. On Monday the searchers came across the body of the boy's father, Harold Sr., 40. He had lasted 13 miles.

A deputy sheriff said the three had set out for their homes in Irvine and Corona Friday after visiting friends in Bishop, 40 miles north of Independence.

They said they planned to stop in Eureka Valley to look at the famous old El Capitan mine. Instead they wandered up an abandoned road into the barren Saline Valley, where their car stalled.

They set out on foot toward a paved road and a ranch house they had passed.

Although the two adults were mining equipment salesmen familiar with desert conditions, they had carried no water.

A mile from the car searchers found a spring-fed oasis in a willow grove. But the two men and the boy walked in the other direction.

Estimates on Arkansas Crops

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1969 Arkansas rice crop will yield 4,600 pounds per acre, the Agriculture Department estimated Monday.

The department estimated the state's rice production at 23,690,000 hundredweight.

Other crop estimates for Arkansas included soybeans, 22 bushels per acre and a total production of 94,776,000 bushels; peaches, 45 million pounds; and winter wheat, 32 bushels per acre and total production of 9,632,000 bushels.

State Reserve Unit Returns From Vietnam

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Headquarters and Headquarters Co. of the 336th Ordnance Battalion returns home Wednesday after more than a year of active duty, including about 10 months in Vietnam.

Forty-nine members of the Little Rock based unit are scheduled to arrive at Adams Field here at 8:40 a.m. where they will be greeted by Lt. Gov. Maurice Britt.

The unit had administrative and technical control over Army ammunition operations in the First Corps Tactical Zone during its service in Vietnam.

The 366th was stationed at Da nang. There were 86 men in the original callup, but discharges and assignments lowered the number of returning men to 49.

Astronauts to Tell of Experience

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 11 astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. reported today they were dangerously low on fuel as they neared the moon and said quick action by ground controllers enabled them to make a safe landing.

"We were very concerned about running low on fuel," Armstrong told a news conference, the first public report on the historic mission.

"We had to change the landing point because of the crater and we were quite close to our legal limit on fuel," the commander reported.

Armstrong said if he had been forced to hunt another 15 or 20 seconds for a smooth landing point, the landing attempt would have been aborted.

Armstrong and Aldrin described their final 50,000-foot descent to the moon on July 20—a hair-raising 12 minutes during which computer alarms flashed and they had to take manual control to avoid crashing in the rock-filled crater.

"I think we pretty well understand what caused these program alarms," Aldrin said. "It was the fact that the computer was in a process of solving the landing problem and at the same time we had the rendezvous radar in a powered up condition and this tended to add an additional burden to the com-

Bruton Says Charges Are Too 'Vague'

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Former Tucker Prison Farm Supt. James Bruton filed a motion in U.S. District Court Monday seeking to have 19 indictments dismissed on grounds that they are very vague.

Bruton is the defendant in the indictments charging brutality in the punishment of inmates.

Bruton said it would be impossible for him to adequately prepare a defense to the charges because the indictments gave no location of the alleged offenses other than Tucker and many listed only a month or season in which they alleged occurred.

Bruton said the indictments did not spell out what Arkansas laws he was accused of acting under and omitted other information he needed to prepare a defense.

Bruton and six former wardens or trusty guards at Tucker were to be arraigned at 9:30 a.m. today before U.S. District Judge J. Smith Henley on indictments charging them with brutality in the punishment of inmates.

The indictments concern the 1964-66 period.

$8,000 Taken in Bank Burglary

PORTLAND, Ark. (AP) — Ashley County Sheriff B. A. Courson said Monday that the Peoples Bank of Portland was burglarized of about $8,000 during the weekend.

Courson said it appeared the burglary was committed by "someone who knew what he was doing."

He said an acetylene torch was used to cut a hole in the door of the vault and a homemade burning bar was used to cut into one of two heavy iron safes in the vault. Courson said the bar apparently broke during an attempt to open the second safe.

Proposes Giving States, Cities More Authority in U.S. Aid Programs

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today proposed giving states and cities much of the authority for running $2.3 billion a year in federal programs to train more than 1 million Americans annually for jobs.

As part of his "New Federalism" concept of sharing state, local and federal power, Nixon sent to Congress a Manpower Training Act to streamline and make more flexible the welter of existing job training programs.

Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz, in a briefing, said that despite Job Corps cuts which angered Congress, Nixon is proposing to add 150,000 Americans to job training rolls at an extra cost of $400 million a year.

Most of the additional training would go to welfare recipients if both the manpower bill and Nixon's welfare legislation are enacted. The welfare bill requires most recipients to take job training.

The manpower legislation also would boost job training funds 10 per cent if the nation's unemployment rate rose to 4.5 per cent for three straight months. It is now 3.6 per cent.

This, Shultz said, was to quell fears that many Americans might lose their jobs in Nixon's efforts to slow the nation's economy enough to cool inflation.

The bill also provides for a computerized national job bank to match the unemployed with job openings.

It would equalize living allowances for different job training programs, which now vary, to keep the unemployed from shopping around for the best allowance instead of for the most

Hurst Plans to Introduce Gambling Bill

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — State Sen. C. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs said Monday he planned to introduce a bill in the legislature to legalize casino gambling.

Hurst, one of the sponsors of a 1967 gambling bill passed by the legislature but vetoed by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, said casino gambling would bring an estimated $33 million a year to the state.

Hurst said he hoped to introduce the bill in a special session or the next regular session. Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller, in Hot Springs on one of his regional tours, said, "I'm convinced that the gambling bill is a dead issue."

The governor said Hurst would be "wasting his time" if he introduced the measure. Asked what he would do if the bill reached his desk again, the governor said, "Well, I vetoed it before."

Enemy Hits 128 Towns, Allied Bases

By GEORGE ESFER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy troops shattered the long battlefield lull early today, shelling 128 allied towns and bases across Vietnam. The Viet Cong and North Vietnamese followed up with ground attacks on 14 allied positions and fought in the streets of two important towns north of Saigon.

The U.S. Command said that all attacks were repulsed and that incomplete figures from the field listed more than 400 enemy dead. U.S. casualties were 51 dead and 345 wounded. South Vietnamese casualties were called light but 23 government troops were killed and more than 60 wounded in two battles north of Saigon.

A spokesman for Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, said: "It's probably the start of their fall campaign but there is no indication how long they'll be able to sustain it. We can't tell if it's anything more than a high point so far."

One of the sharpest battles broke out at a U.S. artillery base blocking infiltration routes from Cambodia to Tay Ninh, 65 miles northwest of Saigon. The base was hit with 400 rounds of rockets, mortars and rocket-propelled grenades.

U.S. artillery fired back, and in the battle 54 North Vietnamese and 9 Americans were field reports said. Thirty-nine Americans were wounded.

The biggest enemy push came in an area near the Cambodian border north of Saigon. There about 2,000 North Vietnamese from two or three divisions attacked a dozen American bases around An Loc, a provincial capital 160 miles north of Saigon. Loc Ninh, 10 miles farther north, and Quan Loi four miles northeast of An Loc.

Military spokesmen said the Communist command had planned to use more men, but more than 100 B52 strikes during the past five days along the Cambodian border and the doubling of allied strength there to 8,000 men disrupted some enemy units trying to move into attack position.

The spokesmen said the enemy's aim was to seize An Loc, Loc Ninh or Quan Loi, even if only for a short time, and establish a de facto provisional revolutionary government for a propaganda victory.

"This one we definitely were ready for," said one officer. "There attack was broken up before it really got going. Prisoners said they were going to attack the area probably Aug. 10th, 11th or 12th."

In another big battle, tanks and armored personnel carriers of the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment killed 45 North Vietnamese and captured two south of An Loc. One American was killed and two wounded, spokesmen said. But South Vietnamese infantrymen lost 13 men killed and 58 wounded in the same area.

Military spokesmen said some North Vietnamese got into Loc Ninh and Quan Loi.
